

LANCASTER, GARRARD COUNTY.

—We are still hoping and longing for the last talk of railroad. Lancaster needs it and we want her to have it.

—We regret to hear of the suicide of Mr. Eph Lillard's brother, at Lawrenceburg. The sad event happened this week at his home at that place.

—Tom Eason, an industrious young man of this place, has been recommended for a position on the C. S. Railroad. As he is deserving, we hope he will get it.

—Another party went fishing on Wednesday afternoon. The day was exceedingly propitious, but we understand that there was very little success in the way of fishing.

—W. G. Smith, formerly of this place, a son of Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, has just received a lucrative position on the C. S. Railroad. The friends and relatives of the family are glad to hear of his good luck.

—I have now on hands the largest stock of millinery I have ever brought to Lancaster. A fine display of hats of the very latest styles, ribbons, laces, veilings, &c. All my friends here and in Lincoln are requested to come and examine my stock. Mrs. Moody Hardin.

—Mr. and Mrs. Sam Anderson entertained a number of their friends Tuesday night. The weather was unfavorable and to a certain extent the evening's pleasure was marred. The entertainment was given principally to the Walling Club. All return thanks to the host and hostess for their kind entertainment.

Miss Nannie Evans, of Junction City, is here on a visit. Mrs. Woodford Dunlap has been to Danville on a visit to friends. Miss Estell Louis, of Georgetown, arrived Wednesday on a visit to her cousin, Miss Jennie Lackey. Mr. James Mason is in Jessamine mixing with old friends and relatives. Sam Evans, who has been in Florida, arrived this week at his uncle's, Mr. George Evans. A number of our citizens are numbered with the sick. Some may have that terrible malady, the spring fever.

—The heirs of Mr. Hugh Bordner, New Washington, Ohio, have made necessary arrangements to make good the purchase contract of the E. Padgett farm near Waynesburg.

—Mr. J. L. Johnson will start to Hamilton tomorrow on business. Mr. Johnson moved to Kingsville last June and has since made many friends and has proven himself to be a great accessory to the business portion of our community.

—The death of Henderson Sims, caused by injuries sustained from a horse throwing him, occurred a few days ago. He was buried in the old family graveyard near town. His funeral was largely attended by his many friends and relatives.

The Southern negro to-day is, in many respects worthy of the greatest praise, and deserves the best and most benevolent consideration from the whites. He is faithful, affectionate and tractable, but is wholly a creature of impulse. He never acts from principle. He seems to be entirely incapable of reasoning out and formulating a moral maxim and making it the basis of any course of action, and for this reason he seems thoroughly incapable of self-government, and therefore does not rise above the social status of a ward or a child that demands the restraints, direction and protection of superior wisdom. Being entirely devoid of principle there is nothing in his nature upon which to found the loftiest sentiments of honor and chastity, and wherever these superior qualities are found, as they are in the mixed bloods, they must be invariably attributed to the superior element. —New Orleans Picayune.

What On Earth

Is the reason people will not, can not or do not see any difference in cheap nostrums put up by cheap John houses or irresponsible parties at enormous profits, rather than take a medicine of world-wide reputation and one that is giving universal satisfaction at equal price? No medicine in the world is giving such unparalleled satisfaction for Beggs' Blood Purifier and Blood-Maker, and every bottle that does not do its work will cost you nothing. A. R. Penny, druggist.

MT. VERNON, ROCKCASTLE COUNTY.

—Sampson Mullins, the Brush Creek dwarf, was in town Thursday for the first time in several years. He is 20 years old, 2 feet 10 inches in height and weighs 72 pounds. He enjoys good health.

—The "pigs in clover" puzzle has been beaten here. Several parties driving nine pigs into the pen instead of four. "Chicken in the door yard" is the latest. It is worked here easily. Send something harder.

—Father Betts, of the Episcopal Church, is preaching a series of sermons at Louisville for the purpose of proving that all other denominations but his are going to the devil in double quick time. His latest effort is devoted against the Baptists, who, he says, are even more noted than the Campbellites for their arrogance, impertinency and exclusiveness.

HUBBLE.—Corn planting is on the boom. Miss Anna Adams, of Hustonville, is visiting Miss Maggie Swinebroad. Miss Bessie Engleman is visiting Mrs. Rube Harris. S. Hubble bought 19 hogs averaging 113 pounds, of J. C. Eubanks & Bro. for 4½. Susie Cook fell asleep in the arms of Jesus Sunday morning, mown down by consumption, after a long illness. She was a worthy member of the Christian church and leaves a good and kind husband, together with four little children, to mourn her departure. Her remains were taken Monday to Palski county, where most all her people live. R. G. Luce has gone West. Robert Gentry has been changed as still-house watch from Traylor's to Burkele's. Wm. Hubble engaged D. G. Spoonamore's mule at weaning time for $100. Tom Wood bought Green Bright's hams for 6¢ all around.

Many people imagine that by blowing their breath on the blade of a knife they can tell whether the blade is steel or pot metal. Now, a person's breath will adhere to a pot-metal blade and fade away the same as on steel, but nine out of ten men don't know this, and that is the reason why so many men carry inferior pocket knives. I hate to see a man enter my store and blow his breath on a steel knife. Unless the knife is rubbed off right after it will rust and spoil the appearance of it. —Hardwareman in Kingston Freeman.

Mr. Wanamaker is perhaps the only Pennsylvanian in Washington on inauguration day who was not drunk. He is a prohibitionist, possibly, because he can so easily get at home all the awful examples he needs for his temperance lectures.

Cough! and Cough!! and Cough!!!

What in the world is the reason you will cough and keep coughing and still keep trying inferior medicines when Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup will positively relieve your cough at once? This is no advertising scheme, but an actual fact and we guarantee it. A. R. Penny, druggist.

—We have not had much baseball talk yet. The season is here and to witness a game occasionally would be delightful. For the present we can go to the Clemens House and see Mr. Thorrel, the proprietor, and his dog "Jack" play ball. Jack can catch a ball every time on the fly.

—Mrs. Theodore Thomas, wife of the noted musician, is dead.

—A report that ex-President Cleveland had been assassinated by a colored porter on a Pullman car, was circulated in Creston, Iowa, Wednesday. The city went almost wild and many people prepared to put their places of business in mourning, when it was suggested that some one had better telegraph for confirmation of the report. This was done, and it was, of course, found to be a canard.

Another wonderful discovery has been made and that too by a lady in this county. Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly and could not sleep. She bought of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption and was so much relieved on taking the first dose that she slept all night, and with one bottle she has been miraculously cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus write W. C. Hamrick & Co., of Shelby, N. C.: Get a free trial bottle at A. R. Penny's drug store.

How can Parents

Allow their children to cough and strain and cough and calmly say "Oh, it is only a little cold," and keep giving them cheap and dangerous medicines until they are down with the lung fever or consumption, when they can be so easily relieved by Beggs' Cherry Cough Syrup? It has no superior and few equals. —A. R. Penny, druggist.

Beauty

Is desired and admired by all. Among the things which may best be done to enhance personal beauty is the daily use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. No matter what the color of the hair, this preparation gives it a lustre and pliancy that adds greatly to its charm. Should the hair be thin, harsh, dry, or turning gray, Ayer's Hair Vigor will restore the color, bring out a new growth, and render the old soft and shiny. For keeping the scalp clean, cool, and healthy, there is no better preparation in the market.

"I am free to confess that a trial of Ayer's Hair Vigor has convinced me that it is a genuine article. Its use has not only caused the hair of my wife and daughter to be but it has given my rather stunted mustache a respectable length and appearance." —R. Britton, Oakland, Ohio.

Abundant and Glossy,

"My hair was coming out (without any assistance from my wife, either). I tried Ayer's Hair Vigor, using only one bottle, and I now have as fine a head of hair as any one could wish for." —R. T. Schmitt, Dickson, Tenn.

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor in my family for a number of years, and regard it as the best hair preparation I know of. It keeps the scalp clean, the hair soft and lively, and preserves the original color. My wife has used it for a long time with most satisfactory results." —Benjamin M. Johnson, M. D., Thomas Hill, Mo.

"My hair was becoming harsh and dry, but after using half a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor it grew black and glossy. I cannot express the joy and pride I feel." —Mabel C. Hardy, Delta, Ill.

Belmont Chief is a bay and weighs 1,200 pounds; bred in 1888, bred by L. L. Cogar, Midway, Ky.

Belmont Chief in appearance is very much like his sire. He trotted a mile at Decatur, Mich., in 1883.

Considering the concentration of speedy blood, size, style, shape and trotting action, I have the utmost confidence in the results to be obtained by breeding to him. BELMONT CHIEF, 8689,

(Registered as Bob Link)

TRIAL 2:31 1-4.

Sired by the great Belmont sire of Nutwood, 2:28 1/4; Woodwood, 2:29; Vining, 2:30 1/4, and 18 others in the 2:30 list. His sons have sired 50 in the 2:30 list. His daughters have produced 74 in the 2:30 list.
First dam, Bertie Kinkead, by Contractor, 10:44, the sire of Dr. West, 2:17 1/4. Second dam, full sister to Dr. Monroe, 2:28 1/4, by Jim Monroe, 2:28 1/4; the sire of Lady Monroe, 2:29 1/4; Monroe Chief, 2:29 1/4; Katie Bates, 2:29 1/4, and 9 others in the 2:30 list. Third dam by Dr. J. S. McPherson. Fourth dam by Thoroughbred.
Belmont Chief is a bay and weighs 1,200 pounds, foaled in 1888, bred by J. L. Cogar, Midway, Ky. Belmont Chief in appearance is very much like his sire. He trotted a mile at Decatur, Mich., in 1888 in 2:30 1/4. Considering the concentration of speed, blood, size, style, shape and trotting action, I have the utmost confidence in the results to be obtained by breeding to him. His first colts will be developed for speed, thus making an early showing of his excellent qualities and bring his colts into prominence.
Belmont Chief will make the season of 1889 at my stables in McKinney.

The following editorial mention of the editor, who is off on a furlough, was made in the Louisville Times of the 10th inst.: "The many Louisville friends of Mr. W. P. Walton, the able editor of the Stanford Interior Journal, are receiving a welcome visit from that gentleman, who has come out of great tribulation to be with them once more. Though still somewhat the worse for a broken hip that has not regained all its wonted cunning, he is in the ring with much more of his old time physical and mental vigor. He will remain in the city for several weeks."

The Interior Journal, this morning sends out another lively youngster in the shape of a supplement in which will be found interesting reading and an abundance of advertisements.

Mr. Joseph Seivance will in a few days tear down the house in which he now lives and erect in its stead a hand-some two-story dwelling. This with the widening of the street just below will be additional improvements to that portion of town.

The following startling items in the Yosemite News, of last issue, is sufficient evidence that news is anything else but scarce in that locality: "Mack Royalty has a new calf at his farm and M. C. Wheat a mule. Both doing well. Verily a fine point is attained in journalism."

A heartless wretch, who must have been unwary of Mr. J. Cam Hays' love for fishing, picked the lock to his minnow bucket, while it was tied in St. Asaph branch and stole therefrom about 400 minnows. It is needless to add that Mr. Hays was a very mad man when the discovery was made.

The Cincinnati Enquirer tells of a peevish dog going mad and fearfully biting its mistress and another member of the family. This is a splendid mad dog season and we would advise our young ladies who have pet dogs to be very careful and be sure there is no froth at their dogs' mouths before they fondle them.

Base Ball.—The sportive youths are beginning already to engage in base ball and the players for the Interior Journal club have been placed, but as yet not engaged. There will be 18 members selected from the best players in this locality affords, and the probability is that our namesakes will have a crack club. They will be open for challenge in a couple of weeks.

Col. Dan Miller tells us that Henderson Sims, an old and respected citizen of the Waynesburg neighborhood, died Tuesday. His death was occasioned by a fall from his horse, which at first was not thought serious, but which after a few days, kept him confined to his bed. He lingered nearly two weeks and suffered the most intense pain. The injuries were internal and it was impossible for medical assistance to alleviate his sufferings.

When Mr. H. C. Ruple was digging his cistern on his lot on lower Main street, a vein of water was struck at the depth of five feet. Thinking it amounted to nothing he began to go further down, when a large vein sufficient to supply a half-dozen families was found. He then dug a few feet further and converted it into a well instead. The water is cool and good and considerably softer than that drawn from the various wells in town.

The Lexington Press speaks of our sister city of Lancaster as a "one-horse town." The paper exhibits its ignorance by making such a remark, for a "walking club" has already been established there and all preparations have been made for the organization of a commercial club. It is easy to see that the Lexington papers do not keep up with the times. Brother Hughes should send a marked copy of his paper to the Press, accompanied by a demand that his town shall be slavered no more.

To feel the pulse of the community we asked a number of tax-payers how they felt on the subject of building a new court-house instead of repairing the old one and invariably the answer has been "I am for building a new one." The additional cost would be little or nothing when divided among our thousands of tax-payers and we sincerely hope that in a short time we will have a new court house in correspondence with our town and county. Nothing would more greatly improve the appearance of things and nothing is needed worse.

Several issues ago this paper contained an article in regard to the misfortunes William Young had met with in his young life, losing an eye and arm and a leg, and now a Missouri friend sends us a marked copy of a paper telling of a man in the town which it is published who has neither legs nor arms and who has only one ear. As we were not boasting of having a person so unfortunate but merely stating the facts we gladly withdraw from any race for supremacy the Missouri gentleman might have thought we were making and give his State a walk-over to gain the reputation desired.

The circus will stretch its canvass on I. M. Brice's lot in front of Mrs. J. H. Shanks' and Tuesday promises to be a gala day for this section.

Lady's Gold Watch Free.—Worth $35, to be given away by me May 4, 1889. A ticket given free with every 50 cents' worth of goods you purchase of W. S. Hilton, Junction City.

The negro woman, Sarah Ellis, who left her baby in a water closet at Rowland, died from the effects of exertion in trying to conceal herself after the birth of her child. The baby died several days ago.

Will Doss, who has been in the asylum at Anchorage, was here Tuesday with his discharge papers. He says he could have gotten them much earlier if he had desired, but he didn't care to return here and be a dread to people who were afraid of him.

Suicide.—E. C. Lillard, a brother of Capt. E. W. Lillard, of Lancaster, a prominent farmer and stock dealer of Anderson, committed suicide by hanging himself in the barn on his farm near Lawrenceburg. His brother, Thomas Lillard, killed himself about two years ago.

A thief dug up about 25 fruit trees which Mr. Rube Engleman had set out, and made his escape with them. When the trees began to bear the thief will no doubt send Mr. Engleman an invitation to come around and partake of some of the fruit, as he is evidently bold enough to do anything.

When Mr. O. J. Newland sent in his resignation as Deputy U. S. Marshal, he received the following complimentary letter from Capt. Gross: "It affords me great pleasure to say to you and all others that you have been a very efficient officer. You have had the courage to go wherever and whenever duty has called you and you have discharged your duty with fidelity and efficiency. I shall never regret having appointed you as my deputy."

Last December the Drugman, of Nashville, Tenn., offered several prizes for the best answers to the following questions: 1. What is an atom? 2. What is a molecule? 3. What is a chemical equivalent? 4. If 40 grs. of lead acetate and 40 grs. of zinc sulphate are dissolved in one ounce of water (a) what reaction takes place? (b) What precipitate is formed? (c) How much should the precipitate weigh? The awards have just been made and the first prize was given to Mrs. Harry A. Evans, of this city, for the best answer.

The little negro boy, Garfield, who sings and dances for his living, happened upon a large box of pills some one had dropped on the street near the depot, and thinking the little sugar-coated balls were candy he proceeded to eat them. Some 15 or 20 had been gobbled down when a drummer passing by caught sight of him. Looking at the box which contained the pills, Garfield was informed by the drummer that he was eating medicine. This nearly frightened the little negro to death and he immediately ran home. The exercise of course assisted the pills in doing their work and before Garfield could tell what the matter was he was awfully sick. Emetics were given him, however, and after several hours of intense suffering he was sufficiently recovered to pursue his business on the street.

Circuit Court.—The whole of Tuesday and Wednesday morning was taken up in reading the depositions in the case of Misses Malinda and Mary Pepples against their brother, James Pepples, in which they sue for two-thirds of the amount of notes held by Mr. Pepples, aggregating about $7,000. They each claim to be equal and possess a third each of the notes held by Mr. Pepples, which have been made payable to himself without their knowledge and consent. They have been living together since their childhood and the older Miss Pepples is now 68, while the younger is 62. Mr. Pepples, who is between the two, tells us that until the last few years they have lived in peace and happiness, and that he has had charge of their finances for years, no dispute ever arising till the present one. The speeches in this case will be made at odd times and a verdict will hardly be reached before this evening.

John Pennington was tried for insanity, but the jury after a few minutes in their room, declared him of sound mind.

The case of W. A. Privitt, against the Cincinnati Southern railroad, in which he sues for damages for the killing of his son, George Privitt, in a wreck on that road in October last, resulted in a verdict of $6,000 for the plaintiff.

Pure German Millet at A. C. Martin's, Maywood.

The Louisville Times thinks that Capt. George Dobyns has the cinch on the Danville postoffice, but says no change will be made till Mr. Murr's term expires.

Mr. Tim W. Higgins telegraphed Mr. W. H. Higgins that Mr. Sam Higgins, of Greenwood, and Miss Julie King, of Crab Orchard, were married in Louisville yesterday morning.

Robertson & Kinnaird, our enterprising Danville friends, come to the front with another large "ad" telling the wonderfully low price at which they are selling the best of goods.

Our young friend, Sam M. Wilhite, of Louisville, is a papa. It is a boy and has been named Douglas Marshall. Mother doing first-rate and father too happy to contain himself.

Some scamp burned a number of panes of Mr. J. Z. Spoonamore's fence Wednesday night. Fire was set to it in three places. It was a division fence between Mr. S. and Misses Mary and Malinda Pepples and was no doubt burned to injure both parties.

Whitecaps.—Mr. Peyton Partott, who is traveling in Rockcastle, sends us the following: "Whitecaps took Wm. Barton, who lives near Brodhead, Tuesday night and whipped him unmercifully. Their reason for doing so was because Barton would not help his aged father, who was in destitute circumstances. Barton and his family left on Wednesday's train for parts unknown."

The Interior Journal this morning sends out another lively youngster in the shape of a supplement in which will be found interesting reading and an abundance of advertisements.

Mr. Joseph Severance will in a few days tear down the house in which he now lives and erect in its stead a handsome two story dwelling. This with the widening of the street just below will be additional improvements to that portion of town.

The following startling items in the Yosemite News, of last issue, is sufficient evidence that news is anything else but sense in that locality: "Mack

Royalty has a new calf at his farm and

M. C. Wheat a mule. Both doing well."

Verily a true point is attained in journalism.

A heartless wretch, who must have been unaware of Mr. J. Cam Hays' love for fishing, picked the lock to his min-

now bucket, while it was tied in St.

Asaph branch and stole therefrom about 400 minnows. It is needless to add that Mr. Hays was a very mad man when the discovery was made.

The Cincinnati Enquirer tells of a poor dog going mad and fearfully bitting its mistress and another member of the family. This is a splendid mad dog season and we would advise our young ladies who have pet dogs to be very careful and be sure there is no foal at their dogs' mouths before they fondle them.

BASE BALL.—The sportive youths are beginning already to engage in base ball and the players for the Interior Journal club have been placed, but as yet not engaged. There will be 18 members selected from the best players in local affairs, and the probability is that our unwashed will have a crack club.

They will be open for challenge in a couple of weeks.

Col. Dan Miller tells us that Honderson Sims, an old and respected citizen of the Waynesburg neighborhood, died Tuesday. His death was occasioned by a fall from his horse, which at first was not thought serious, but which after a few days, kept him confined to his bed.

He lingered nearly two weeks and suffered the most intense pain. The injuries were internal and it was impossible for medical assistance to alleviate his sufferings.

When Mr. H. C. Ruple was digging

his eastern lot on lower Main street, a vein of water was struck at the depth of five feet. Thinking it amounted to nothing he began to go further down, when a large vein sufficient to supply a half-dozen families was found. He then dug a few feet further and converted it into a well instead. The water is cool and good and considerably softer

than that drawn from the various wells

in town.

The Lexington Press speaks of our city of Lexington as a "one-horse town." The paper exhibits its ignorance by making such a remark, for a

"walking club" has already been established there and all preparations have been made for the organization of a commmercial club. It is easy to see that the Lexington papers do not keep up with the times. Brother Hughes should send a marked copy of his paper to the Press,

accompanied by a demand that his town shall be slandered no more.

To feel the pulse of the community we asked a number of tax-payers how they felt on the subject of building a new court-house instead of repairing the old one and invariably the answer has been

"I am for building a new one." The additional cost would be little or nothing

when divided among our thousands of tax-payers and we sincerely hope that in a short time we will have a new court house in correspondence with our town and county. Nothing would more greatly improve the appearance of things and nothing is needed worse.

Several issues ago this paper contained an article in regard to the misfortunes

William Young had met with in his young life, losing an eye and arm and a leg, and now a Missouri friend sends us a marked copy of a paper telling of a man in the town which it is published who has neither legs nor arms and who has only one ear. As we were not boasting of having a person so unfortunate but merely stating the facts we gladly withdraw from any race for supremacy the Missouri gentleman might have thought we were making and give his State a walk-over to gain the reputation desired.

land, died from the effects of exertion in trying to conceal herself after the birth of her child. The baby died several days ago.

Will Dunn, who has been in the asylum at Anhegange, was here Tuesday with his discharge papers. He says he could have gotten them much earlier if he had desired, but he didn't care to return here and be a dread to people who were afraid of him.

SCULPTURE.—E. C. Lillard, a brother of Capt. E. W. Lillard, of Lancaster, a prominent farmer and stock dealer of Anderson, committed suicide by hanging himself in the barn on his farm near Lawrenceburg. His brother, Thomas

Lillard, killed himself about two years ago.

A thief dug up about 25 fruit trees which Mr. Rube Engleman had set out, and made his escape with them. When the trees began to bear the thief will no doubt send Mr. Engleman an invitation to come around and partake of some of the fruit, as he is evidently bold enough to do anything.

When Mr. O. J. Newland sent in his resignation as Deputy U. S. Marshal, he received the following complimentary letter from Capt. Gross: "It affords me great pleasure to say to you and all others, that you have been a very efficient officer. You have had the courage to go wherever and whenever duty has called you and you have discharged your duty with fidelity and efficiency. I shall never regret having appointed you as my deputy."

Prof. Dyer, the alleged pupil of Liszt, but who is really a dead-beat, went to Richmond and tried to bleed the citizens of that place by getting up a concert and borrowing small sums of money, to be paid after the performance was given, but they profited by the article

we had in regard to him and the "Prof."

left that town in a hurry, with more experience and less money than when he first looked upon it. The professor should strike a town where this paper is not so well circulated.

one ounce of water (a) what reaction takes place? (b) What precipitate is made and the first prize was given to Mrs. Harry A. Evans, of this city, for the best answer.

SUPPLEMENT.

In a Fit of Anger a Son Remains in a Room For Fourteen Years.

There is no more peculiar family than the Glenns, two sisters and a brother who live in Urbana, Ohio. All are unmarried, and John, the brother, is a study. There was once three boys. The father was odd. He would never go in debt. Once he went to buy the boys a coat each, but his money gave out and he only got two. He told John the circumstances and said he would get him one next time. John got mad, said he need never buy him one, and that he would never wear one so long as his father lived. Going to his room John remained 14 years without a coat, and no one ever saw him out of that room. His meals were sent to him, and he sat there and read and thought.

When the father died John came out, put on a coat and went to the funeral. The Van Wert, O., News says that the Glenns are Scotch-Irish. The coat-of-arms ornaments the silver, china and front door. The old man had money and bought largely of land, and the estate is one of the most valuable in Champaign county. After the father died the children, none of whom ever married, although all had been carefully educated, decided to have the whole house frescoed. For 10 months an artist worked at the house and the walls are covered with grotesque figures, serpents and animals.

John got mad once about the decorations and shut himself in his room for four years, coming out to attend the funeral of the brother who had provoked him. Mary, the youngest sister, has charge of the finances now. John is 65 years old and bleached white by his confinement. The family are close relatives to Mrs. Thomas Richards, of Stanford.

A good story is told about a man on the East Side who has 12 acres of land to sell. He asked $850 per acre, and finally found a purchaser at that figure. His wife, however, refused to sign the deed, and the sale was off. Then he offered the land for $1,000 an acre, and again a purchaser was found, and again the good wife exercised her royal prerogative and refused to sign the deed. The property is now for sale at $20,000 for the 12 acres. Fortunate is the man who possesses a wife who knows how to refuse to sign deeds judiciously; her value is greater than the rubies; yea, verily, above fine gold.—Portland Oregonian.

PARADOXICAL.—Paradoxical as it appears, the most successful miners have worked in vein.

Rogues don't go to church often, but we have seen naves there.

It is hard to believe that Blondin would, in so earnest, walk on a "tight" rope.

If you wish to see nothing, shut your eyes and you will see it.

Everything that is up in arms is not a warrior—a baby, for instance.

Though often visited by his nephews, still the pawnbroker is a loan-sum man.

It is the shoemaker that gives his goods away who is a bona fide free booter.

The average dealer's ice is not always what it is cracked up to be.

Isn't it paradoxical that 1:20 o'clock is past 1, while 1:30 o'clock is only half past?

A TRICK ANYBODY CAN PERFORM.

You take six pieces of paper, place three of them on the back of your hand, and as a preliminary operation, blow them away with an air of mystery, informing your audience at the same time that you are about to explain to them some new kind of magnetism. Then placing the other three pieces on your hand you say: "Which of the three pieces do the company desire shall remain on my hand when I blow on them?" When one has been selected you place the forefinger of your other hand upon it and blow the other pieces away. This absurd performance is a very amusing parlor trick.

Considerable sport is being had out of the horse question. The question is: A man sold a horse for $80, bought him back again for $70, and sold him a second time for $100. What did he make in the transaction? A. The question is a "catch." At the end of the transactions the man was to be debited with $180 and credited with a horse and $70. If the horse was worth more than $110, he lost the equivalent of the excess. If worth less than $110, he made a profit equal to the difference.

A CORDIAL WELCOME.—Visiting Mother-in-law—"How glad I am to see you, my dear daughter."

Daughter-in-law—"I am so glad to see you. It is so kind of you to travel that long distance just to see me. Take off your things. Now that you are here you must not think of leaving us before the first train in the morning."—Texas Siftings.

A good fluid glue, ready at all times for instant use, without any preliminary preparation, is one of the most useful articles of stock with which the workshop can be furnished. To make such a glue all that is necessary is to melt three lbs. of glue in a quart of water, and then drop in an equally small quantity of nitric acid. When this ingredient is added the mixture is removed from the fire and allowed to cool. Glue so prepared has been kept in an open kettle for 3 years and still ready for use on the instant.

For the benefit of those over-economic people who have a way of turning down low the light of the kerosene lamp when leaving a room for a little while, it may be said that experiment demonstrates that the saving in oil by this means is hardly appreciable. With the low flame a considerable quantity of the products of incomplete combustion are making their escape into the air; and these are not only offensive to the sense of smell, but are injurious to the health.

A teacher in a Western town, who asked one of her pupils to procure a grammar, received the following note from the girl's mother: "I do not desire that Mattie shall ingage in grammer as I prefer her to ingage in more yousful studies and can learn her to speak and write proper myself. I have went through two grammars and can't say as they did me no good—I prefer Mattie to ingage in German and drawing and vocal music on the piano."

During our civil war there were, of newspaper record, 8,493 soldiers whose lives were saved by Bibles and Testaments carried in their breast pockets. But now in Spinnville, Ala., a pint of whisky, carried in the breast pocket, stopped the bullet of an angry revolver. That is the kind of whisky they make down there—awful tough.

The word "boodle" is said to be derived from the English word "batted," a bunch or bundle of straw. The word is in common use in the Eastern States in the sense of the whole lot, as "the boodle of them," and from this usage has got to mean the whole pile, or amount of a man's money.

Equal to the Occasion.

They were telling experiences the other night and Colonel Granniss told one of his. He made the trip through the southern country here just after the road had been opened. The festive cow-boy had just begun to enjoy the sport of running the train in the rough region, and at one of the stations a formidable specimen of that tough human boarded the cars. The conductor came along punching the tickets and this cow-boy did not pay any attention to him. At last the conductor laid his hand on the cowboy's shoulder and said, "Ticket, please." The cow-boy turned in true cow-boy style, pulled out his revolver and pointed it at the conductor.

"Here's my ticket!"

The conductor walked on and punched everybody else's coupon. Then he disappeared. The little incident had been forgotten by almost everybody on the car. The cow-boy was in a quiescent state and the car was still when the conductor came in. He walked leisurely up the aisle and suddenly stopped before the cow-boy, placed a big knife dangerously contiguous to his vital part and said, quietly:

"Lemme see that ticket again."

The cow-boy paid his fare.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Forty years ago Kentucky was the greatest corn-producing State, but the development of the West and Northwest has been so rapid and so marvelous that Kentucky is now ninth in the list. Iowa is first, with 278,232,000 bus.; Illinois second, with 278,060,000 bushels, and Missouri third, with 202,583,000 bushels. Even Texas raises more corn than Kentucky and some day will be the largest corn-growing State. In 1888 Texas produced 92,436,000 bushels and Kentucky 81,545,000.

The thought of Heaven is pleasant to us; we believe that some place away above the sky, and clouds, and stars, there is a home into which we shall be gathered. If we feel like wanderers, pilgrims and sojourners, and our travels perhaps almost concluded, it is restful to us to look and contemplate that which awaits us in the better land. It is not that we wish to escape what is here, but, its fashion changing, we hope for the better enjoyments that are beyond.—United Presbyterian.

Dr. Tanner, the starvation-cure freak, once more announces his intention to bury himself alive, and this time adds some equally remarkable specifications concerning his hope of resurrection. "I propose," he says, "to so modify my body and mind that I can take upon myself a protracted trance state, and while in that condition be buried. I shall remain in the grave four weeks, and then be disinterred and resuscitated. Many of the secrets of that performance have revealed themselves to me. One of the principal acts is to throw the tongue back into the gullet and cause a change in the circulation of the blood, so that it resumes the conditions of the pre-natal state and renders the body airtight." If the doctor will consent to swallow his tongue America is apt to feel reconciled to the collateral results of his experiment.

AT THE WHITE HOUSE.—Lige—"Mr. President, there is a gentleman in the ante-room who says he would like a first class appointment."

The President—"Who was his father?"

Lige—"Nobody in particular I believe."

The President—"Who was his grandfather?"

Lige—"I never heard of him."

The President—"How much did he give to the campaign fund?"

Lige—"His contribution was trifling, I believe."

The President—"Tell him there are no vacancies."—Serving It's Turn.

A New York man has a collection of 100,000 butterflies, each differing from the other in some particular. Can have the faintest conception of the wonderful beauty of many of these most delicate creations of nature. Nothing in art can approach them in delicacy of color or equal their exquisite coloring. The owner, Mr. Neumoege, has spent 20 years and $35,000 in making the collection.

In New York City last year there were 40,142 deaths, of which number consumption as usual claimed the largest number, 5,215, and its kindred affection, pneumonia, 4,247. Suicide took away 233 and homicide 53. The firemen were called upon to battle with 3,202 fires which did damage aggregating $1,566,401.

The editor of the Minneapolis Tribune says he can't be fooled about old Kentucky whisky. He says: "This talk about seven-year-old Kentucky whisky is very absurd. If they make whisky in Kentucky April 1 you can bet your socks it's all gone before sunset April 2d."

Unfortunate Mishaps That Befell Billiger McSwat and His Bride.

The sun never shone upon a lovelier morning than that which ushered in the wedding day of Billiger McSwat and Lobelia Grubb.

Far away in the dreamy distance stretched a landscape that seemed to tremble and vibrate in the mellow haze of the golden October day as if the unseen spirits that inhabit the air were beating it with fairy wings in the irrepressible exuberance of overflowing life and joy.

[Copyright. All rights reserved.]

Billiger and Lobelia McSwat had just started on their wedding journey.

Animated by sincere and laudable purpose of affording no indication in their manner, apparel or behavior that they were taking such a trip, Billiger wore a suit of new, black broadcloth, with a lavender necktie, and Lobelia was attired in a silk dress of a delicate lilac tint, with no conspicuous ornaments except a large solitaire ring on one of the fingers of the left hand and a few orange blossoms modestly and becomingly arranged on her Parisian traveling hat. They sat on the luxurious cushion of a palace car, Billiger's arm resting carelessly on the back of the seat occupied by his lovely bride, and Lobelia leaning toward Billiger in the easy, tender, confiding manner of a mother in Israel going with her aged companion to the Old Settlers' meeting, or the Secretary of a Young Ladies' Society for the Dissemination of Useful Knowledge accompanying an older brother on a shopping expedition.

"Billiger," faltered the bride, turning her beautiful eyes trustingly to his, "nobody would suspect that we are—that we have just been—that we are on our—do you think?"

"Certainly not, Lobelia," affirmed Billiger, with great positiveness, as he smiled fondly and reassuredly upon her.

"They think we are brother and sister, Billiger, or at least that we are long married."

"Chestnuts!" exclaimed a voice.

The young husband turned fiercely around to see who had spoken.

It was the train boy, an innocent lad of 17 summers, on whose face was a look of such childlike simplicity that Billiger's hasty suspicions were at once allayed.

"Lobelia, my love," he said tenderly, "would you like some chestnuts?"

"If you like, dear," she replied trustingly.

Billiger put his hand into his pocket. Then he put his other hand into his other pocket and his face turned an ashen gray.

"Lobelia!" he said hoarsely, "I—have left my pocketbook, with my money and tickets in my other pa—in my trousers! Have you any money with you? Quick! Here comes the conductor!"

"I think I have, Billiger," said Lobelia.

She put her hand in her pocket and turned pale.

"Billiger," she exclaimed piteously, "I have left my pocketbook in my other dress!"

The station at which the train stopped was only seven miles from home. Billiger and Lobelia McSwat got out, the ecstatic bridegroom persuaded a grasping, sordid monopolist who kept a livery stable, to accept his watch as security for the hire of a carriage and driver, and Mr. and Mrs. McSwat drove home in pensive silence through the balmy autumnal landscape, which the mellowed rays of the golden October sun bathed in a sea of molten glory.

If the story of the first day of Billiger and Lobelia's wedding journey shall serve as a warning to others, it will not have been written by the sorrowing historian in vain.—Chicago Tribune.

Truly, woman's love is incomprehensible, and there would seem to be absolutely no limit to a wife's devotion. This was most forcibly demonstrated by an incident which occurred at Sing Sing yesterday. Mrs. Bohan, a wife who had both eyes gouged out by her drunken husband, and whose body bore the scars of many a brutal kick and blow, was led to the jail doors that she might console and cheer the brute who had made her life one of mental and physical misery, and who was then lying ill in the prison hospital. Years ago, in a fit of drunken rage, her husband deliberately gouged out one of her eyes, and last summer, as deliberately and in the same manner, he deprived her of the other. Blind for life, helpless and friendless, she perjured herself in court in her efforts to save him from punishment, and now she lies to his prison bedside the moment she hears that he is suffering. Nancy's devotion to Bill Sykes never approached the same height. Bohan is said to have wept yesterday at their meeting, showing that he suffers the agonies of remorse, and that even such a brute as he is possessed of at least a particle of human feeling. And yet no man can find it in his heart to pity such a wretch, whatever his sufferings, mental and physical. —Louisville Post.

Mr. R. A. Logsdon, of Cross Roads, in Hart county, while out fox hunting one day last week, discovered his dogs whining around a large tree, which had been blown up by the roots. The tree is a huge, hollow poplar. While trying to discover the cause of the dogs' actions, his attention was attracted by a lot of human bones in the hollow of the tree. Further search revealed an old flint-lock gun and a keg of whisky. The bones were much decayed and much larger than the usual size. The gun was eaten by rust and the stock had rotted so that it fell to pieces. The keg is a strong concern and shows much ingenuity in its construction, the exterior being coated with a substance resembling pitch, and is well preserved. The whisky found in the keg is said to be a most excellent article. —Elizabethtown News.

Tramp (to woman who had given him a loaf of bread):—"Now, if you'll show me the way to the wood-shed I'll get the axe and—"

"Why, you dear old fellow, you must not think of cutting wood; you are too weak!"

"Oh, I don't want the axe for that. I just thought that I'd like to cut off a chunk of this bread—if I've got strength enough!" —Time.
